OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

IT IS ALWAYS INTERESTING, sometimes surprising and often startling, when we go on a vacation, to realize how smoothly the joint operates in our absence.

There will be some snide individuals around, we know, who will suggest that should tell us something. We should take off more often.

Let us make it crystal clear that we are willing to do just that.

But, unfortunately, there are a few mundane items that restrict us.

Such as having an adequate number of pesos, as an example.

We threw in that peso bit to let you know in an offhand (?) manner that our vacation was spent in old Mexico where for more than two weeks we struggled every time we made a purchase with the intricacies of mentally converting pesos and centavos into dollars and cents of our money.

Because we have never been noted for any astuteness in the handling of the coin or currency of Estados Unidos, swinging into the peso routine in Mexico was more complicated for us than for others in our group, such as our Dorothy, who is a banker by trade.

Our adjustment was a little more difficult because sign of the peso ($) is the same as the sign of the dollar ($). But it takes eight pesos to make one of our bucks.

There were times when our wallet would be bulging with good-size peso notes and our pockets jingling with centavos and peso coins. We would figure we were well fixed. Then we would make a purchase.

It was always shocking to see how fast the dinero disappeared.

Quite often there were times when we didn't have enough pesos to go around.

But what else is new?

Come to think of it, that happens to us all the time in this country, too.

DURING OUR VACATION three guest columnists filled in for us.

Over the years we have had quite a number of people try their hands at writing this column during our absence and there have been some excellent presentations.

Many of our friends (?) have suggested that our weekly efforts on occasion have suffered by comparison.

This year Jeanette Watson, Rusty Hammer and Jim Hardy were our guests. They did masterful jobs, in our opinion.

We enjoyed all three of the columns that appeared and don't mind at all taking some of the credit for the quality.

After all, we selected them.

AS USUAL THE GUEST columnists were given free rein.

There were no restrictions, except that they stay within the libel laws, which they all did.

We had no indication of what subjects would be stressed by the columnists-for-the-day.

And we were as surprised as you were that Jim Hardy, president of West Valley College, used us for his subject.

Our only criticism would be that it seems to us that Jim could have found a more stimulating topic for his column.

On the other hand, not being bothered with any degree of false modesty, we admit we liked it.

Thank you, Jim, for those kind words. They were nice to come back to.

But a whole column on Vierhus?

That's a little much.

CAMPBELL TO GET $265,000

Supervisors okay library funding

Construction of Campbell's long-awaited library building could be under way before the end of the year as a result of the action of the county Board last Friday in "committing" $265,000 of the library district funds for construction of the facility here.

The "guarantee" by the supervisors came at the budget hearing on the library district which was attended by 16 representatives from Campbell, including all five city councilmen, members of the Chamber of Commerce and other interested citizens.

ASSURANCE

Assurance by the supervisors that $265,000 will be available to supplement this city's bond funds in the construction of the 24,000 square foot building in Campbell's civic center complex, now means that the city can proceed in the drafting of plans and the calling for bids for the structure, city officials claim.

Bill Hedley, who was architect for the city hall and also for the library, indicated at the hearing that final plans could be ready for approval in four months and that the contract could be let in late fall. Preliminary plans have already been approved by the city and the county.

Under a joint powers agreement between the city and county, the City of Campbell will construct the building from the $400,000 bond issue which was approved by the voters in October, 1967.

After the building is completed it will be leased to the county library district. The lease payments will retire the bonds.

EXPANDED FACILITY

The county allocation of $265,000 was needed, along with a $200,000 federal grant that already has been approved, to build a facility that is almost twice the size as that planned when the $400,000 bond issue was passed in 1967.

The federal grant was contingent on the fact that the library would be expanded in size and would also serve as a main branch. County officials indicated that the county would pick up the additional tab ($265,000) for the expanded building which would have to be located, because of the space involved, across the street from the new city hall.

ACQUIRE SITE

Based on these conditions, the City of Campbell, using bond funds, acquired and cleared the necessary parcels between Central and Harrison.

But the city could not proceed any further in the drawing of final plans or the letting of the construction contract until the county allocation was made.

The action last Friday by the supervisors thus allows the city to proceed.

The supervisors, however, last Friday did not either approve the $2.8 million budget for the county library system or set the tax rate for the library district to meet the budget requirements.

DISTRICT TAX

The present district tax is 21-cents per $100 assessed valuation and representatives of the various cities that are in the district urged the supervisors to increase the tax rate to meet the facility demands of all the cities. In addition to Campbell, the cities of Morgan Hill, Gilroy, Cupertino, Milpitas and Los Altos have new facilities on the drafting boards or even further along.

The tax rate increase as suggested by representatives of the cities at the budget hearing last Friday varied from four cents to six cents.

At the close of the hearing,

HEADS MAYORS' GROUP—Mayor Bill Podgorsek, of Campbell, has been named chairman of the mayors' committee of the Inter-City Council of Santa Clara County, composed of representatives from the 15 cities.

Podgorsek, who will serve for a year, succeeds Gary Gillmor of Santa Clara. Vice-chairman of the mayors' group is Mrs. Etta Albert, mayor of Sunnyvale. The mayors' committee gives direction to the supervisors and city councils on overall problems affecting the cities in the county.

Buonocore goes to Westmont as Culp takes new position

George Buonocore, former director of education at Prospect High School has been named principal of Westmont High School.

Buonocore replaces Robert Culp who is leaving the district to accept a post with the San Jose Unified School District.

A former science teacher, Buonocore has been with the Campbell Union High School District since 1958, when he was assigned to Campbell High School. He later was teacher, counselor and director of activities at Blackford High School.

A year ago he was named Prospect's director of education. He had been a member of that school's faculty since it opened in 1968.

A graduate of San Jose State College, Buonocore received his master's at Washington State University. In the past few years he has been working with youth groups and was extensively involved in a program for drug abuse education. He was recently named to the board of directors of the county-wide Halfway House program.

Mr. and Mrs. Buonocore reside in Saratoga nad are parents of three children. Susan attends University of California at Riverside; Mary Ellen attends high school and Richard is a junior high student.

Culp is leaving the district after 24 years as a teacher and administrator, 21 of them at Campbell High School. More recently he has served as principal at Westmont High School.

His new position is with Metropolitan Adult Education Program, where he will replace Robert Hichborn as curriculum coordinator. (See story on Hichborn's appointment to Campbell adult principal elsewhere.)

CAMPBELL HOSPITAL EXPANSION

Houses come tumbling down

Approximately two acres of "open land" were made available this week on Hamilton Avenue between Winchester and Esther, as the Campbell Community Hospital embarked on the first phase of an extensive expansion program.

In gaining the "open land", 11 buildings in all were demolished. The property that was cleared has been owned by the hospital for some time and is adjacent to the site on which the main buildings are located. Only three lots fronting on Hamilton between Winchester and Esther are not under the hospital ownership.

The first phase of the construction program, according to Jerry Schutz, hospital administrator, calls for the building of laboratories, emergency rooms and storage areas next to the existing buildings to be connected by a covered walkway.

The second phase will consist of an out-patient clinic and office building which will have the main entrance off Hamilton.

City Council adopts new policy for Bascom Avenue

Making only one minor change from the version that was recommended by the Planning Commission, the City Council on Monday adopted the "Bascom Avenue Policy" which specifies that commercial uses will be permitted for a general depth of 300 feet only when such developments front to Bascom Avenue.

The Council removed one phrase in the conditions specifying that zone changes can be made only when required to assure development within the framework of the policy statement.

At the suggestion of Holly Vollenweider, who headed the Chamber of Commerce committee that studied the area, the phrase "...and shall not be made when the evident purpose is for land speculation" was removed from the final statement.

The Council on Monday indicated that a bicycle safety program within the city would be launched on October 1 in cooperation with the parks department, the police department, the youth commission and other civic groups.

City Manager Bob Stephens also reported that Police Chief Don Burr had indicated that Municipal Judge Ed Taylor would cooperate in the enforcement of bicycle traffic laws.

In another action, the Council approved the final subdivision map for the Amato property and also the final map for the Fair Meadows subdivision (formerly Eichler) east of the San Tomas Expressway and south of Hamilton.

The Council also approved the agreement with the California Dental Service for the dental plan for the city employees that was recently put into effect. The city picks up the tab for $5 of the $10 monthly premium.

Did bidder mean to get that low ?

Because the low bidder had apparently made a colossal error in calculations, the City Council on Monday night delayed the awarding of the contract for the Rosemary streetlight project until Aug. 14 to allow the firm to withdraw or to stand on its bid.

Penn Electric, the low of three bidders, had submitted a bid for the job of $7,587.28 as compared to the others of $13,984.00 and $14,623.60 respectively.

Bill Wren, public works director, pointed out that in one instance the low bidder had used $4.10 as the unit price projecting the total price out to $49.20.

He explained that the engineer's estimate for that particular unit price was $550. The other two bidders had submitted $500 and $440 as their unit price for that phase of the contract and projecting their totals to $11,808 and $12,675.

Wren recommended that the Council, under the circumstances, could eliminate the low bidder or reject all the bids.

The councilmen, however, felt that the firm should officially request the withdrawal and deferred final action until August 14 to allow time for the firm to act.

"We assume, of course" Councilman Dean Chamberlin pointed out, "that an obvious mistake has been made and the firm should not be held

MOVES UP — Don Hebard, vice-chairman of the Planning Commission, was named chairman this week upon the resignation of Dale Scott, a planning commissioner for five years and who was serving his second term as chairman. Scott is moving to southern California. The Council on Monday accepted Scott's resignation with regret and commended him for his unselfish work as a planning commissioner and devotion to the community.

Fred E. Long, of 1121 McBain, associated with a glass company, was named to the vacancy on the commission Monday night. Long was top man on the list of applicants on file for the commission.

THREE MONTH TOTAL COMES TO $19.4 MILLION

First quarter retail sales show gain of $5 million

Retail sales in Campbell during the first quarter this year were up almost $5 million from the same period in 1971, according to the recently issued report of the State Board of Equalization.

In 1971, during the first three months, taxable retail sales in Campbell totalled $14.5 million while in the same period this year the sales reached $19.4 million.

The gain amounted to an almost 30% increase over the first quarter of 1971, far exceeding the statewide increase of 13.1%.

Campbell's retail sales topped Los Gatos by $2 million ($19,442,000 to $17,289,000) in the first quarter whereas, in the first quarter of a year ago, Los Gatos showed $200,000 more in sales than Campbell.

All categories in Campbell showed an increase in total sales except "general merchandise sales." During the first quarter of 1971, nine stores in this category accounted for $714,000 in sales while in the first quarter this year, 11 stores showed only $689,000 in sales.

In the first quarter this year, as usual, "home furnishings" was the biggest producer of total taxable sales in Campbell, registering $3.1 million in sales from 26 outlets compared to $2.5 million the previous year from 22 outlets.

The 17 "building material" outlets during the first three months this year registered $2.1 million in sales while in the previous year 20 outlets showed $1.9 million.

The 20 apparel stores this year had $598,000 in sales compared to 14 the previous year with $225,000 and 10 drug stores this year accounted for $510,000 in taxable sales compared to nine last year with $270,000.

This year 25 food stores reported $1.5 million in taxable sales while last year 20 such stores had $1.4 million.

There were 61 eating places reporting the first quarter this year with taxable sales of $2.2 million. Last year 53 eating places showed sales of $1.3 million.

There were 47 service stations this year reporting taxable sales of $266,000 compared to 41 in the same period last year with $221,000.

Countywide, Campbell was topped by six of the 15 cities (San Jose, $232 million; Palo Alto, $72.6 million; Santa Clara, $68.8 million; Sunnyvale, $58.2 million and Mountain View $45.4 million).

Campbell's $19.4 million was followed by Los Gatos, $17.2 million; Cupertino, $15.2 million; Los Altos, $11.3 million; Milpitas, $10.4 million; Gilroy, $8.5 million; Saratoga, $3.6 million; Morgan Hill, $3.1 million; Los Altos Hills, $386,000 and Monte Sereno, $7,000.

Editorial

Soon a reality

A milestone was reached last Friday in the long, long trail toward a new library building for Campbell when the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors committed an allocation for this fiscal year of $265,000 from library district funds to apply toward the building that will be located across from Campbell's city hall.

The commitment by the supervisors in the scheduled budget hearing in effect removed the final roadblock in a long and frustrating fiscal route that the City of Campbell has traveled for almost five years, dating back to the approval by the citizens of this city of a $400,000 bond issue for the construction of a new library building as part of the civic center complex.

To understand the complications that have caused the many delays, it first must be realized that the library in Campbell is part of the county library system and is maintained by a separate library district tax of 21-cents. Although a library commission exists, it is the county board of supervisors that actually administers the library and sets the tax rate.

The cities, then within the district, in effect, have virtually no control over its operation. Some cities, of course, in the county operate their own libraries and they levy separate taxes and do not pay the 21-cent levy.

A common approach in acquiring facilities for branch libraries has been for cities within the district to use their bonding capacities to obtain funds for construction of libraries. The buildings, in turn, are leased to the county library district and the bonds paid off via lease payments.

In October, 1967, the citizens of Campbell approved a bond issue for such an undertaking. The original plans called for the library to be a wing of the new city hall.

Subsequently, a federal grant of $200,000 became available, if the library would be doubled in size (from 12,000 to 24,000 square feet). But the enlarged library could not fit in the plans for the city hall because of lack of space.

So, following county direction, the city, using bond funds, acquired property across the street from the city hall with the understanding that the county would make up the difference in costs.

The site has been cleared, preliminary plans for the library have been approved but, until the supervisors' action last Friday in committing $265,000 toward the construction cost, the city could move no further.

Thus the action last Friday was a landmark, for it means now that the City of Campbell can proceed with final drawings and the letting of the contract for the long-awaited library building.

Although Campbell's situation is more pressing than others, similar conditions with respect to library facilities exist in varying degrees in Morgan Hill, Gilroy, Cupertino and Milpitas.

To fund these facilities and to continue with an adequate level of library service, it has been recognized that an increase in the 21-cent library district tax may be necessary.

Most of the cities involved have indicated that a 6-cent hike would be adequate. But the supervisors, in committing $265,000 to Campbell, did not set the tax rate. Such action will take place when the county's fiscal experts submit to the board their analysis of what will be needed to meet the district's budget.

We commend the supervisors for recognizing their responsibility to this city in specifying that there will be $265,000 available for the construction of the library. The people of this city in 1967, in good faith, voted bonds for the library and it would be grossly unfair to delay matters any longer.

We also commend the city council, city officials and many other civic-minded citizens who have so patiently struggled during the past four or five years to unwind the governmental red tape that, at times, seemed to have stifled the entire project.

In passing, as evidence of the concern manifested locally, it also should be noted, that a delegation of 16 citizens, including all five councilmen, were present at the hearing last Friday when the fiscal commitment was made by the board.

This representation of civic concern, we feel, made a definite impact on the board and, especially true in this respect, was the clear and concise summation of the situation made by Councilman Dean Chamberlin, spokesman for the delegation.

It's been a long wait.

"Editor of Columnists' Columns".

It was from Jersey City, New Jersey and the writer suggested that he submit a column weekly on the "Amercia Scene" for The Press for a small fee.

All of us here at The Press wear several different hats and such titles as "political editor", "women's editor", "club editor", "sports editor" and "city editor" are quite loosely used.

The title sort of goes with the person who is free to answer the phone at the time.

However, there has never been a need to date for an "editor of columnists' columns."

But it may be something to think about the next time we go on a vacation and guests take over "out on the limb".

-0-

CONSIDERABLE DISCUSSION took place at a recent Planning Commission meeting over a requested change in the sign at the Bonanza Home Center on Bascom Avenue.

There has been a change in ownership and the firm that is taking over is "Angels".

So the request was to replace "Bonanza" with "Angels" on the huge facade sign that is on the front of the building.

Some of the commissioners expressed concern over the size of the letters in the proposed "Angels" sign. The letters would be 5½-feet high, somewhat larger than the present ones.

It was explained that was necessary because there is one letter less in "Angels" than in "Bonanza" and the lettering had to be spaced properly in the facade.

DURING THE DISCUSSION, it was pointed out by Art Kee, planning director, that the former operators of the home center had violated zoning ordinances on a number of occasions, especially with respect to open storage areas. Kee said the firm had been warned about the violations by his office.

Obviously any past zoning violations had no direct bearing on the current sign application.

But, just as obviously, it seemed an appropriate time to bring up the matter, inasmuch as a new owner was taking over and had a request before the commission.

Representatives of the "Angels" firm assured the commission that they would cooperate to the fullest with the city and there would be no zoning violations in the future.

That assurance satisfied the commission and the sign was approved.

However, Commissioner Oleg Lubeckis remarked somewhat wistfully that he wished the oral "assurance" was in a more tangible form.

Despite the fact, he added, it had been given by "Angels."

FROM TIME TO TIME, you probably will expect us to drop little tidbits into this column about our Mexican trip.

And we wouldn't want to disappoint you for the world. So glad you asked.

And to those of you who couldn't care less, you ought to be thankful that we are not boring you with the slides that are always a part of these personal travelogues.

But in all seriousness, it was an interesting and educational trek in many ways. For example, all of us were impressed by some of the innovations used with respect to traffic and transportation.

Of especial interest was the subway in Mexico City...The fast-moving trains swooshed almost noiselessly from station to station using huge rubber tires to cut down the sound, a startling contrast to the clanging underground trains which we have been on in this country and in London.

And Homer Hyde, who was with us, could hardly wait to get back to suggest to Bill Wren, public works director, that putting paved "humps" on some of our residential streets (such as Campbell Avenue east of Bascom) might slow down the traffic.

Apparently it has proved quite effective in Mexico City.

Hasta luego.

Building permits take dip in Campbell during June

Campbell's building spurt, which had been keeping up with the record-breaking mark set in 1971 for the first five months this year, slowed to a walk in June when only $187,557.50 in building permits were issued, according to Wally Byron, city building official, falling $3 million below the six-month total of last year.

At the end of the first six months this year, the city had issued $7,731,640 in permits while last year at this time the permit total had reached $10,765,244, largely due to the surge in June when $4,821,165 in permits were taken out, more than $4 million over this June.

In June of this year, a single family permit was issued to David Crider, at 701 Regas Drive, for $21,478. For the first six months this year there have been 14 single family permits for $252,475 compared to only three at this time last year for $71,700.

The first duplex permit of the year, to Robert W. Hendrickson, at 176 N. Hardy Ave. was issued in June for $30,626 and there were two permits for commercial buildings issued in June. One was to Paul Hanson, at 479-491 McGlincey for $67,276 and the other went to Fotomat in Kirkwood Plaza for $900.

Alterations and additions accounted for $34,560.35 in June, including three for partitions in stores in the Prune-Yard.

There were three swimming pool permits for $8,700, making a total of 16 for the year to date for a total of $53,500 and three signs for $3,550. All other permits accounted for $20,467 during the month.

after "guaranteeing" the allocation to Campbell, the supervisors deferred any further county library budget action until Robert Nyman, county fiscal officer, could come up with what was actually needed to meet the budget demands, including Campbell's commitment.

CHAMBERLIN SPEAKS

Vice-Chairman Dean Chamberlin was spokesman for the 16-man Campbell delegation that was on hand at the budget hearing in the supervisors' chambers. Present also were Mayor Bill Podgorsek and Councilmen Norm Paul, Ralph Doetsch and Rusty Hammer.

The Campbell contingent arrived at 1:30 p.m. and waited patiently through the other budget matters on the board's agenda until the library issue came to bat at 3:45 p.m.

Representing the Chamber of Commerce at the hearing were Ed Fabbri, vice-president; Bob Bullard, past president; Bob Cowan, director and Len Edholm, manager.

Others present included City Manager Bob Stephens; Homer Hyde, past mayor; Don Hebard, planning commissioner; Bill Hedley, architect; and George Vierhus, of The Campbell Press.

Council ponders cab issue

Whether more taxi cabs will be operating in Campbell in the near future than there are now cruising the streets could depend on what action the City Council takes on the request of Allan K. Bloomquist, of 1116 Denver Dr., on September 25.

The Council on Monday, after hearing the applicant's plea, as well as that of the opposition, represented by Charles O'Connor, of Mission Yellow Cab, continued the public hearing until the September meeting to allow time to clear up a few points.

Bloomquist has a similar application pending before the Santa Clara City Council. By September that council should have acted on the request. Bloomquist explained that approval by Santa Clara will allow him to have more cabs available.

O'Connor, of Mission Yellow Cab, argued that there were enough cabs serving Campbell now. He claimed that allowing more cabs in town would cause a deterioration in service and equipment.

He maintained that the City Council had the right to regulate the number of cabs and should do so.

Bloomquist's claim that it was possible for him to lease cabs from one of the firms now operating and no permit would be needed was challenged by O'Connor, who said their drivers were union employees.

Bloomquist asked to modify his application to call for red and white cabs instead of yellow and to change the minimum rate from 75-cents to 60-cents.

The Council also wanted to hear a more complete report on the cab situation in town from Police Chief Don Burr before the September meeting.

HILDA LISTON

Hilda Liston, mother of William S. Smeed of Campbell, former councilman, died last week at the age of 81.

Other survivors include Nadine Leon and Luana Cvietkovich, her children, both of San Jose; and her sister, Hortense Desgrandchamp, also of San Jose. Hilda Liston was the grandmother of eight.

Services were held in San Jose.

In another bidding matter on Monday, the Council approved the specifications and the calling for bids for three four-door sedans which will be assigned to the city manager, police department and fire department.

On the recommendation of City Manager Bob Stephens, the city is asking for all four-door sedans rather than one two-door hard-top and two four-doors.

FLYING HIGH---Douglas Smith, 17, has earned his private pilot's license. Doug stands by a plane at the Flying Country Club of Reed Hillview Airport, where he learned to fly the powered planes.

Local youth is flying high

Douglas Smith, a senior at Del Mar High School, earned his private pilot's license on Friday, July 21, exactly one year after receiving his glider's license.

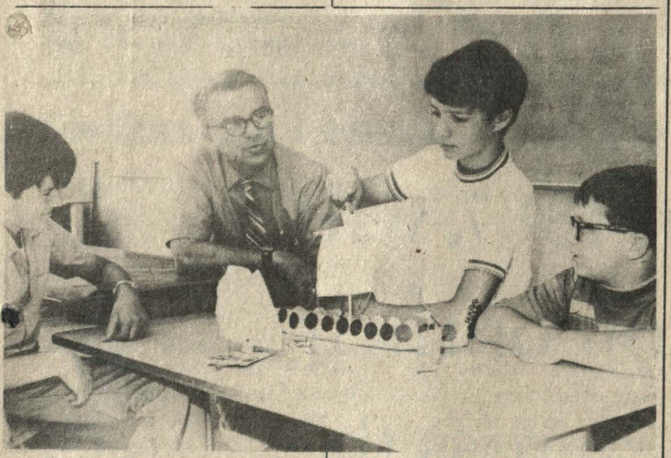
Earning both licenses before finishing high school is an out-of-the-ordinary accomplishment.

Doug began his glider lessons at age 13. At age 14, he was flying solo.

He started his power plane lessons in June of this year and quickly chalked up the necessary flying time for his license.

Doug is a student of Carl Clark at the Flying Country Club of Reed Hillview Airport. Both his parents have licenses and fly at the club.

Doug eventually plans to be a design and aircraft engineer. He hopes to be admitted to Cal Poly for his college work.



EXPERIMENTAL CLASSROOM --- Art Ring, science consultant for the Campbell Union School District, watches while three students from the district discuss ship models they are building.

All are participating in a demonstration school conducted at Washington Elementary School in Santa Clara. This summer, 140 classroom teachers have enrolled to study the innovative teaching methods offered in the summer program.

The program is jointly sponsored by California State University, San Jose, and the Santa Clara Unified School District.

The students are Mario Recio, Ed Recio and Todd Wade.

The Central California Red Cross Blood Center is located at 333 McKendrie St. in San Jose.

GRANGE

There is a Difference in Beef Grading

When your reputation has been built on perfect-eating meat, you don't compromise with the methods that assure top quality . . . At Safeway, every steak, and every roast of beef is USDA Choice Grade. Some coin fancy different sounding names for the lower grades they sell, but, at Safeway, every cut of beef is USDA Choice Grade. It is the grade only awarded to meat that will consistently deliver tender, juicy, flavorful cuts. Every purchase that you make at Safeway is guaranteed to please you or your money back.

USDA CHOICE

Safeway DISCOUNT Still The BEST

There is a Difference in Meat Trimming

Safeway's method of trimming meat gives you more good-eating meat on the table for your money, because excess fat and bone are cut off before the meat is weighed. The meat on every Safeway steak, for example, is all steak meat. The less tender end portion has been trimmed off to be sold at a lower price per pound. In comparing the price of meats, it will pay you to compare the trim as well. You will find that you are way ahead when you shop at Safeway Discount.

Shoes are a winning business

You might say Charles Pignataro was a shoe-in for first place.

Chuck, an employee at Frank's Minute Man Shoe Repair Shop, 238 E. Campbell Ave., won first place as the best shoe-man in America at the 25th annual contest of the Shoe Service Institute of America.

A native of Italy, Chuck has been working at the Campbell shop for the last four years. This is the first time he has entered the national contest.

He submitted three pairs of shoes into the competition. "We got three old raggedy shoes, and he repaired one of each pair," explains Mrs. Margaret Scorpiniti, manager of the shop.

"He rebuilt the shoes all the way to the lining, and used only the top."

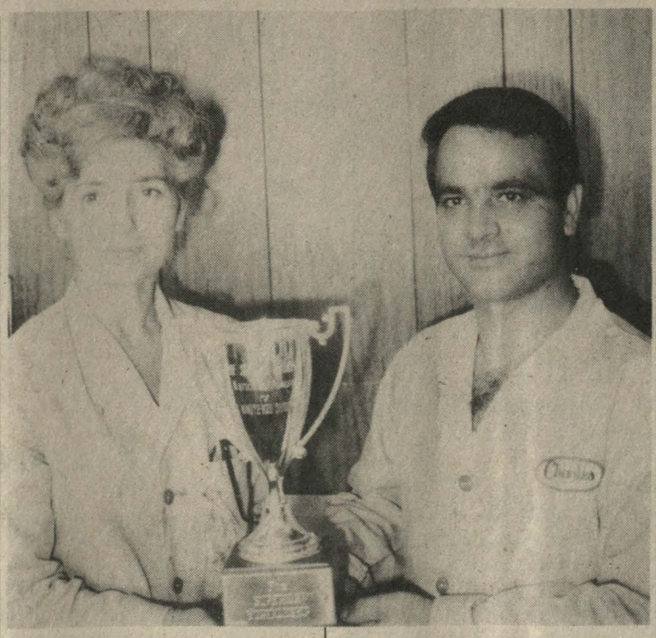
He has been a shoe repairman for 15 years. At 8 years old, he began learning the trade in Italy. By the time he was 12, Chuck was spending half his time working on shoes and half his time in school.

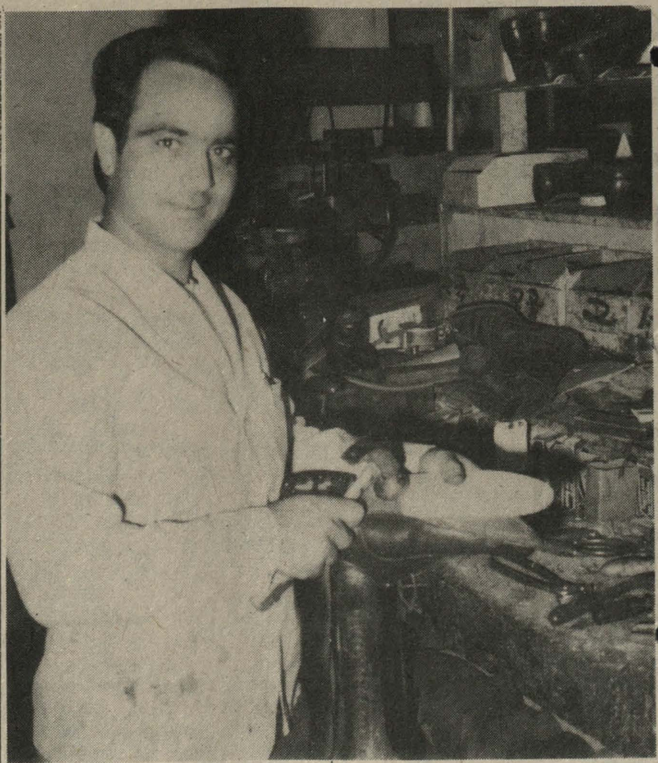
When he was 17 he moved to Germany and began working full time making new shoes from scratch.

Seven years ago his family moved to the United States. Chuck, now 32, followed closely behind.

The Chicago contest was open to all shoemakers in the United States. Chuck was awarded the national silver cup for his shoecraft.



HE'S NUMBER ONE---Chuck Pignataro shows the trophy signifying he is one of the top shoe men in America to Mrs. Margaret Scorpiniti, manager of Frank's Minute Man Shoe Shop where he is employed.



REPAIRS IN PROGRESS---Chuck Pignataro, an employee at Frank's Minute Man Repair Shop, displays a half-sole he is repairing on a shoe. He did much of his early shoe work in Italy without machinery.

Young and old work together for Seniors

"Youth working with seniors" was the theme as the Campbell JayCees and the West Valley Progressive Seniors combined in a landscaping project on Saturday, July 22.

Rusty Hammer, project chairman, led the JayCees in the planting of trees and a lawn in front and on the side of the West Valley Progressive Seniors center at 41 West Rincon.

The JayCees who participated in the community project were Hammer, Walt Fontes, Mike Johnson, Ron Whitcanack, Bruce Townsend, Dave Valkenaar, Rich Smith and a host of JayCee wives, children and friends.

Equipment was provided by Bob Tellesen, manager of United Rent-All. The landscaping was provided by the Campbell Garden Club, with Sue Brigham, president, giving directions for the planting.

A luncheon for the hungry workers was served by the seniors.

This is the first of a series of projects planned by the JayCees for the coming months. Their work will be climaxed in fall by an extensive project at Rincon Park.

For more information about the JayCees, call Mike Kennedy, president, at 378-4976.

FOOD FOR VOLUNTEERS--West Valley Progressive Seniors provided lunch for members of the Campbell JayCees and Campbell Garden Club after the two groups joined forces recently to begin landscaping the senior center at 41 W. Rincon Ave.

Seniors can become foster grandparents

Fifty senior citizens very soon will be "Foster Grandparents" to 100 children who are confined in hospitals, the County's Children's Shelter or in the care of the Juvenile Probation Department.

To take part a senior must be 60 years of age and have an annual income of $2,000 or less ($2,600 for a couple).

He or she must be willing to spend two hours a day with each of two children for a total of 20 hours per week.

In return for visiting, playing with, reading to and otherwise attending the children, the seniors will receive a volunteer's stipend of $1.60 per hour, a mid-day meal, and transportation costs.

The youngsters are neglected and abandoned children, possibly with minor records for delinquency, who have become wards of the County Juvenile Probation or the Social Services Department.

Some of the youngsters are being cared for at the County's Childrens Shelter, others are in custody at Juvenile Hall, or at the County's Boys and Girls Ranches, some are patients in the pediatric ward at Valley Medical Center, and others are at the Children's Hospital at Stanford.

A foster grandparent through the program can supplement his or her income to a total of $1,670 per year.

Anyone interested in becoming a foster grandparent can contact Catholic Social Service at 243-0994.

The Santa Clara County Social Planning Council selected the Catholic Social Service to operate the non-denominational program.

FOSTER GRANDPARENTS--The three planners of the County's "Foster Grandparents" project look over photos of children who may be included in the program which will provide a grandparent's care to 100 disadvantaged children.

The trio are Attorney Robert Vatuone, left, chairman of the sponsoring Catholic Social Service; Mrs. Laurie Kane, volunteer coordinator for Juvenile Probation; and Harold Foulk, of the Committee on Aging.

William Perkins directs the musical score. He is a former band director at Campbell High School and is now teaching orchestra. He is the veteran of many shows, among them "Bye, Bye Birdie," "West Side Story," and "Plain and Fancy."

Janie Jones directs the acting and choreography. Her mother, Mrs. Rachel Ellis, is in charge of costuming. Both have worked on professional productions.

Other directors of the summer cultural workshop are George Akina in charge of the production of MOVE; John Hall, program coordinator; Glenn Benner, teacher of a guitar class and head of the jazz ensemble; Mrs. Peggy Alberti, teacher of piano and director of the woodwind ensemble; Perry Rogers, director of the drum major program and the brass ensemble; and Ann Sjoberg, a dance teacher.

Summer rec programs nearing completion

Campbell Union High School District students who have spent a profitable and interesting vacation taking summer school courses will show the public some of their accomplishments in culmination activities during the week of July 25-28.

Samples of student work in art, homemaking, woodshop and metal shop were displayed at an open-house at Leigh High School library Tuesday, July 25 from 9-12 a.m. The public was invited.

Six classrooms at Blackford High will be open to the public for displays of student work in arts, arts and crafts, photography, sewing and woodshop, Thursday, July 27 from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Highlight of the summer humanities program at Campbell High will be the all-student production of the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical play, "Carousel". Under the guidance of drama teacher John Hall and music director William Perkins, students will do the whole show -- acting, choreography, singing, playing in the orchestra, making scenery and costumes, designing programs and selling tickets.

Ticket sales of $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students will help defray expenses of the production.

The summer recreation program operated by the Campbell High District in cooperation with the San Jose Recreation Department will continue at all eight district schools -- Campbell, Camden, Del Mar, Blackford, Leigh, Westmont, Branham and Prospect -- through August 25.

Area residents of all ages, pre-schoolers to adults -- can participate in activities at the swimming pools. There will be two more 2-week swim instruction sessions for children starting July 31 and August 14. Registration is open at the various school pools.

School pools are open every afternoon from 1:30 - 4:30 p.m., Sunday through Saturday, for recreational swimming. Only exception is Campbell's pool which is closed on Saturdays.

All gymnasiums are open mornings and evenings for students and adults who are interested in recreational games or training for physical fitness.

Teen Centers which offer a variety of recreational activities for students of each school area are open from 7 to 10:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays at Del Mar and Branham and on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights at all other district schools.

Santa Clara County gets new alcoholism coordinator

Jerome S. Becker, one of three people in the United States to obtain a master's degree in the study of alcoholism, has been named alcoholism coordinator for the County of Santa Clara by County Executive Howard W. Campen.

Becker, 49, is a Dominican priest. He is in residence at St. Nicholas Church in Los Altos, where his work is mainly experimental.

He replaces Ely Axelrod, who resigned recently, and he will be responsible for coordinating the County's efforts to control alcoholism.

Becker has been serving on the staff of the Alcoholism Council of Santa Clara County for the past year. In that role he worked with four major local industries on educational programs to reduce alcoholism among their employees.

JEROME BECKER

As a result of his studies he estimates that there are 20,000 alcoholics in the county and that eight per cent of the adult population in the country are alcoholics.

According to Becker only three per cent of the alcoholics are on skid row. He says the rest are scattered throughout all layers of society, through most jobs nad professions and among all ages.

"Parents think if their 16-year-old son knocks off a 'six-pack' it's all right, as long as he's not in an opium den," he said.

Becker also commented, "Industry loses a great deal of money due to alcoholism. When you buy a toaster and it doesn't work it could be because of alcoholism."

Becker got into the study of alcoholism after graduating from college, serving in the army and completing his first graduate studies at Aquinas Institute in Illinois with a master's in philosophy.

In 1968 while serving in the Dominican Order he started the "Dial-A-Priest" telephone service in Kansas City, Detroit and Minneapolis. These drew 15,000 calls a year from people with troubles, and Becker discovered that 82 per cent of the calls involving marital problems were related to alcohol.

He enrolled in the Berkeley Center for Alcohol and Other Drug Studies at the University of Caliornia at Berkeley. As part of his research on his second master's degree he lived for a time on the Papago Indian Reservation near Tucson, Arizona.

Reflecting on his experiences he commented, "Most people think that Indians can't drink. Yet I found that drinking among these people is a cultural super-imposed condition. Today the sign of manhood in the tribe is when a young brave gets drunk and gets thrown in jail."

Becker added, "I think all Indians are beginning to realize that this is a major problem they must overcome."

Speaking of his efforts in the industrial alcoholism area, Becker explained, "This program rests on the policy that alcoholism is treatable, that such employees should not be fired and that some adjustments in the employee's health insurance may be possible to cover the costs of treatment."

At the four companies involved, information on the program is being sent home to all employees, and supervisors are being trained to recognize the signs of alcoholism among their workers and how to help them.

Referring to both the industrial program and the County's anti-alcoholism efforts, Becker said, "Our goals are to care for the person who is suffering from alcoholism, to prevent it from reaching a serious stage and to enlighten people in the county as to the use and misuse of this beverage. There is no moral approach here."

The County's efforts have included the establishment of an Acute Alcoholism Clinic at Valley Medical Center, the encouragement of "halfway houses" for alcoholics, support for community alcoholism control programs and planning for a "de-tox" treatment center, possibly at Agnews Hospital, to replace the "drunk tank."

SWINGING BOYS

For seven days during Easter vacation, 16 boys, members of Camden High's Key Club, swung for 24 hours a day to raise $300 for the annual Easter Seal drive to aid crippled children.

The boys, who set up their swing in the Princeton Plaza Shopping Center, organized into two-man teams alternating for four-hour turns at swinging.

Let's hear it for the drunks.

It's not the drink that kills, it's the drunk, the problem drinker, the abusive drinker, the drunk driver. This year he'll be involved in the killing of at least 25,000 people. He'll be involved in at least 800,000 highway crashes. After all the drunk driver has done for us, what can we do for him? If he's sick, let's help him. But first we've got to get him off the road.

Do something. Write National Safety Council, Dept. A, 425 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois 60611. And let your voice be heard.

BACK IN STATES

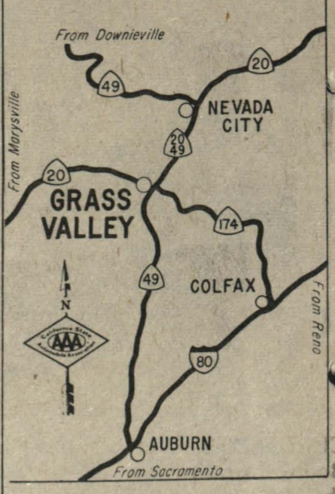
Navy Petty Officer Third Class Patrick D. Stevenson, husband of the former Miss Betty J. Cummins of Campbell, has returned to San Diego aboard the aircraft carrier USS Constellation after a nine-month deployment to the Western Pacific.

During the deployment his ship provided air support to U.S. Forces in Southeast Asia, and visited Hong Kong, Singapore, Japan and the Republic of the Philippines.

JULY 26:

On this date in 1954, Lt. General Hubert R. Harmon was appointed the first superintendent of the Air Force Academy.

Grass Valley retains lore of early gold mining days



As vacationers head over Interstate 80 toward Lake Tahoe and the Sierra Nevada, they pass through the foothill country. And when they reach that point where the valley oak and sycamores begin to give way to the stands of pine and fir, they are in the heart of California's fabulous gold country.

One of the more active towns in this region is Grass Valley, says the California State Automobile Association. Despite its growth in recent years it retains much of the wistful feeling of that era a century ago when mules and men struggled to find gold far below the rich red earth.

A good way to begin a tour of this historic mining town is with a visit to the old Pelton Wheel at the foot of Mill Street. This is a large metal wheel, thirty feet in diameter, that was turned by water from high pressure hoses and generated power for the North Star Mine.

Nearby are the homes of Lotta Crabtree and Lola Montez, both in the same block on Mill Street near the center of town. Lola Montez came from Bavaria in 1853. She was a singer and dancer who had been a favorite of the king. She spent two years in Grass Valley during which time she encouraged a young neighbor, Lotta Crabtree, in the arts of singing and dancing.

Lotta went on to become famous and rich and beloved throughout America. The Montez home is open to the public for tours during the summer.

A short distance away from the town's center is the Empire Mine, located in a most unusual setting amidst a park-like pine forest. It was the largest mine in Grass Valley and one of the greatest hard-rock mines in California. Many of the buildings used during its long period of operation are still standing.

The Empire had 200 miles of underground workings and one record-breaking vein was followed for 9,000 feet before it gave out.

There are other mines, too, that you can visit and poke around among the old mining equipment without danger -- the Idaho-Maryland, the North Star, the Pennsylvania.

And the fun of Grass Valley is walking down its quaint covered sidewalks along the narrow streets, enjoying the leisurely pace of this old Queen of Northern Mines region.

OPENS FRIDAY --- Norma Hughes, Phyllis Parmenter, Joseph Paul Glasner and Lila Lloyd await the start of "Blithe Spirit," set to open Friday at 8:30 in the Los Gatos Prentiss Brown Auditorium.

The presentation will be the final attraction in the Phoenix Productions summer festival of plays.

Additional showings will be on Saturday, July 29, and August 4 and 5.

For ticket information, call 378-6322 or 247-1645.

BOBBY SOX

Bobbysoxers finish regular season

Call it women's lib, the feminine mystique, or (more likely) just plain old fun, the Moreland Bobbysoxers have finished another season.

The Cubs won the championship finale of the league in a 7-6 thriller against the Angels.

At the start of the sixth inning, the Cubs looked to be hopelessly behind by a score of 6-0. But Diane Ashley slugged a grand slam home run to bring the score to 6-4.

In the top of the seventh, the Cubs again loaded the bases and Cindy Walters drove in the two tying runs with a single. Margaret Miller drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly.

The Cubs, sponsored by Armstrong Carpet and Tile, fought an uphill battle all the way. They tied with the Angels for the second half of the season and then defeated them in a 10 inning, 7-6 game behind the pitching of Teri Alexander.

The Angels defeated the Cubs in a wild 13-12 game in the first game of the "two out of three" game playoff. But the Cubs came back to win the second game 6-2, setting the stage for the finale.

The Bobbysoxers All Stars play on Saturday, July 29, at 6 p.m. at Steindorf School.

Dick Eckhoff, the outgoing president of the league, will be succeeded by Mrs. Carol Casteel.

JULY 26:
On this date in 1937, Jacqueline Cochran established a U.S. women's speed record of 203.9 mph flying a Beechcraft over a 620-mile course.

SC plans synch swim meet

Cindy Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warren of 216 Radford Drive in Campbell, will be among 330 swimmers competing in the Senior National AAU outdoor synchronized swimming championships Friday through Sunday (July 28-30) at the International Swim Center.

Cindy is an aquamaid on the Santa Clara team.

The meet is the largest in the 25 year history of synchronized swimming as a competitive sport. Swimmers from 38 clubs represent 14 states, Canada, Japan, Mexico and South Africa.

Finals in solo, duet and team events are scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday, July 30. Tickets at $3 for general admission and $4 for reserved seats are available at the International Swim Center, 2625 Patricia Dr. in Santa Clara.

LITTLE LEAGUE ALL-STARS

Campbell Little League All-Stars got off to a fast start in their opening game in division play with Santa Clara Eastside when pitcher Cliff Judd, the first Campbell batter, knocked one over the fence in the bottom of the first inning.

Judd's run, however, had to stand for the whole game, with the final score 1-0. Santa Clara threatened several times, but Bob Bossi's excellent catching held runners on their bases.

Second game of the play-offs was played last night (Tuesday) at Campbell field with Santa Clara-Briarwood. Winner will play Thursday evening at 6 p.m. at Westside field, adjacent to Haman Park in Santa Clara.

As seen from a bicycle

Two or three bikes will be pulling out of town next week.

The young men on them will have a long journey ahead.

Two of them will be riding for charity. A possible third rider will be a photographer. Their destination is Washington, D.C.

Rob Flinn, 26, is a high school teacher. John Hayes, 19, is a student.

Both hope their ride will call attention to bike riding as a serious means of transportation.

But, most of all, they hope to obtain enough sponsors to buy some new and unique physical education equipment for Joseph McKinnon School, which is attended by children with mental handicaps.

This idea came from Flinn, who, during his college studies, had occasion to work with mentally retarded children and since has been seeking a way to embark on a serious project to benefit them.

Both Flinn and Hayes, son of San Jose Councilwoman Janet Gray Hayes, are also concerned by the problems which bike riders face in finding routes which parallel freeways. Flinn reports that he has several times been riding legally on the side of a highway only to have the road turn into a freeway. (Bicycles are not permitted on freeways.)

IN TOP SHAPE---John Hayes, left, and Bob Flinn don't really need to practice for their cross-country bike ride as both are avid riders. Hayes and Flinn will leave shortly for a trip to raise funds for handicapped children and to also point up the need for bikeways across the country.

San Jose Bees will hold a bicycle baseball benefit on Friday, August 18 in Municipal Stadium with half of the evening's proceeds going towards the fund for handicapped. Present plans include encouraging spectators to ride their bikes to the game. Working with the Bees is Ed Price, of the Santa Clara County chapter of American Youth Hosteling.

The proposed trip will take about a month and a half. If a bikerider photographer joins the pair (at his own expense), it is hoped that the trio will be able to film the countryside "as seen from the seat of a bicycle."

Persons who would like more information about the trip should call Flinn at 379-5266.

City honors service and suggestions

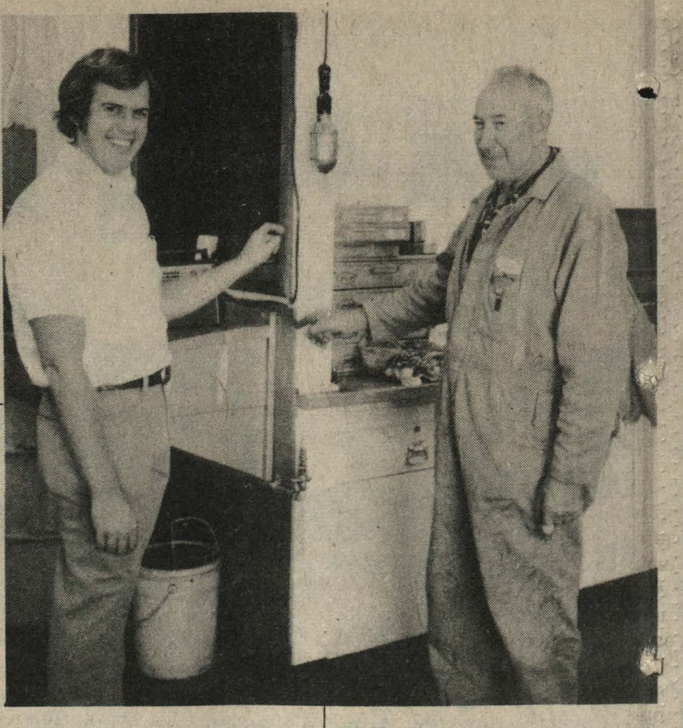
Two city employees were recognized for work and money saving suggestions and a third for service to the city at the council meeting Monday evening.

Jim Elam, an employee of the city for nearly 15 years, was honored for service as a public works employee since 1957. Now retired, Elam lives with his wife, Paula, at 412 N. Central.

A check for $100 was given to Ron Cheek, a junior civil engineer and a city employee for over three years. Cheek's cash award was for a suggestion to move a city payday up a week resulting in a saving of about $3500 to the city and an equal amount to his fellow employees.

George Italton, 1470 Douglas St., a mechanic in the corporation yard, was presented with $50 for his suggestion that an office location in the garage be moved to facilitate work.

Certificates of appreciation were presented to all three employees.



IN THIS CORNER---George Italton, right, shows Ron Cheek where he plans to move his office in the garage at the corporation yard of the city. Italton, a city mechanic, was given a $50 award for his efficiency suggestion. Cheek, a junior civil engineer, was also honored by the city for a suggestion which resulted in a financial savings for the business office. Cheek received $100. Both awards were made at the city council meeting Monday evening.

WV board talks over building plans

The "good neighbor policy" was brought before members of West Valley College's governing board Thursday night.

At issue was the location and architectural design of the warehouse - maintenance building on the Saratoga campus.

Four Saratoga residents, who own homes next to the Saratoga campus, appeared before the board to ask that the proposed location of the building be changed or if that was not possible to at least keep the architecture of the facility in the same design as the rest of the campus.

Steve Keller, supervisor of campus facilities, explained that originally the building had been planned in the same architectural design as the rest of the campus. However, defeat of four bond issues plus limited state financing has necessitated the change to a painted sheet metal type of construction.

The facility has been master planned since 1966 for the east side of the campus across the perimeter road from the humanities and fine arts complex.

After more than one and one-half hours of discussion with Ernest T. Barco, 18873 Dundee Ave.; Walter Muir, 14156 Short Hill Court; Dr. Herb Wilkinson, 14052 Short Hill Court; and Nyal D. McMullin, 14104 Short Hill Ct., the board referred the matter back to the administration for further study and review in conjunction with these residents.

In other action the board:

--Adopted a publication budget totaling $20,908,638 and set August 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the board room, 44 E. Latimer Ave., for a public hearing.

--Reappointed 11 persons to the college's Citizens Advisory Committee for a two-year term. They are: Myron Alexander, Mary Byington, William A. Gissler, Mark Guerra, Ervin Laurance, Ann Mirassou, Ruthadele Sarter, George Vierhus and Jeanne Wagner. Three members were reappointed at the last board meeting. They are: James T. Hartigan, Kenzo Ishimaru and James St. Germaine.

--Approved a change order on the business education - student personnel - administration building currently under construction at Saratoga to provide built-in office casework for members of the faculty and counseling staff.

--Approved the following personnel items: Accepted, with regret, the resignation of Miss Toni Carrell, MTST operator, effective August 31; and the voluntary demotion of Mrs. Mary Alice Blice from student records clerk to accept a secretarial post in student personnel.

Shehtanian heads board of Cambrian School District

John H. Shehtanian has been elected president of the Board of Trustees of the Cambrian School District.

Shehtanian, a resident of 2887 Nicholas Dr., San Jose, has been a member for three years. He succeeds Mrs. Robert (Virginia) Grewohl, also of San Jose.

Jack M. Farnham, longtime trustee, was appointed to be the board's representative to the county committee.

The board will meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays starting in September at Bohnett School, at 2275 S. Bascom Ave. The next meeting will be held on Friday, August 4, when the final hearing of the 1972-1973 budget will be held.

The board adopted a resolution declaring intent to sell the Bachmann School site for a minimum of $270,000. Bids will be opened Tuesday, September 12.

Asst. Supt. Al Vatuone reported that the best way to alleviate hazardous conditions of the children getting to school is to provide limited busing.
